A diagram showing a design layer structure. A thick red rectangular border represents the overall design area. Inside this border, there is a blue double-headed vertical arrow on the left side, spanning most of the height. In the center of the red border, the text 'BACK (OPTIONAL)' is written in bold grey. Below this, there is a paragraph of red text. Further down, there is a blue double-headed horizontal arrow spanning most of the width, with the text 'Keep important material within safe zone' in blue centered between its ends.
